Joost Langeveld : Dino-Gami before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Dino-Gami:

Voegt I'm not a total newbie to origami, I enjoy crafts and have a good sense of graphic intelligence, and I ADORE dinosaurs, so I received this as a Christmas present. I was delighted! What could be more perfect? The paper that comes with the set is beautiful, and though a few sheets aren't exactly perfectly square, they're close enough for the price point. The idea is adorable, and the dinosaurs are cute, but this book falls into the bizarre trap of completely over explaining some steps and then making bizarre leaps on others. It is EXTREMELY frustrating to spend hours trying to figure out what's going on. It also isn't edited well, so the pictures sometimes depict a different stage of progress than the steps' text. I understand that there are apparently YouTube instructions made by the author if the text is insufficient, but if you get an instructional book it should...

well, instruct, yes? If you're unusually patient and already proficient with origami, absolutely go for it. But definitely wouldn't recommend this set to beginners or younger children. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Totally frustrating. My grandson aged 6 got this for ... By Susan A. Giddings Totally frustrating. My grandson aged 6 got this for his birthday and was so excited to have grandma help him. The directions for the preliminary and crane base which are the beginnings of most of the dinosaurs are impossible to follow. I worked for 1.5 hours to master one of these and got nowhere.

About the Author Joost Langeveld lives in Holland. Creativity has always been an important part of his life. Until he was about 14, he obsessed over Technic Legos, making remote cars, cockpit interiors, a joystick, and even a food mixer to make pancakes. By the time he was 16, he had switched his creative energies to computers and began programming simple computer games and vector-animations to impress his friends and family. Langeveld's career is still in the computer field, but since he turned 26, origami has become his favorite hobby. He is fascinated by both the technical and creative aspects. He has found that it is one thing to fold a model so it has four legs, a tail and a head but quite another to make it look like a real animal. He is especially known for his amazing and realistic flowers and arrangements.
